CORAM: A.M.KHANWILKAR,J.
DATE : DECEMBER 8, 2005

P.C.

1. The only argument canvassed before this Court is that complaint as filed by the Respondent is after lapse of 11 years from the marriage. That by itself cannot be the ground to discharge the petitioners. The learned counsel has not brought to my notice any legal provision which could prohibit institution and continuation of criminal action even if it is a case of continuous cause of action. No case for interference. Hence, dismissed.
